He is acquainted with the details of the office, and can carry on the work here without any bitch, and when an appointment is made he can instruct the new man as to his duties. There is some doubt, however, as to whether the office here will be in existence much longer. It seems to be the general impression in revenue circles that Congress will remove the tobacco tax during this seesion. This done the only Internal Revenue agent that would be needed here would be a gauger. The possibility of Congress taking such action was one of the reasons that induced Mr. Baird to look with special favor on the bright prospects he and Mr. Me-Mechen have in the West.

ITS ADVANTAGES. Ol course, from his knowledge of Wheeling, Judge Cochran is able to judge just what an important advantage to this city the foot bridge will be. It will enable men working in the Ohio mills to live on this

THE elegantly fitted up new hall of the Grand Army of the Republic Post will be formally opened this evening with an attractive programme. The hall is a model of its kind, a credit to the organization and to the city.

The INTELLIGENCER man also asked Judge Cochran what about the Trades Assembly's desire to have a stipulation that no foreign "contract" labor should be employed in the erection of the bridge. "That," said Judge Cochran, "is all right, and perfectly reasonable. We should have adopted that policy anyhow, and have no objection to pledging ourselves to it in black and white. I shall t write an unequivocal promise covering and have no objection to pledging ouries selves to it in black and white. I shall the write an unequivocal promise covering both points. We will give the preference to laborers, (akilled and unskilled, who live right here."

In this respect is one of the greatest and most direct advantages of the construction of the bridge. As a workingman recently said, the money subscribed by the people and at least as much more, will really be distributed among the people—the working classes and the masses in general—before the money is paid over by the county to the Bridge company. A glance at the magnitude of the work to be done will show what a veritable bonanca it will be to the workers, the boarding house-deepers, the relading rocors, and in fact the whole community, and the farmers and other residents of the country for miles at around. Leaving out of consideration the institute of the contraction the stream of the contraction that the contraction that the contraction of the contraction that the contraction the stream of the contraction that the contraction th around. Leaving out of consideration the inestimable value of the bridge to the manufactories and commerce of this section and of the land in general, the good flowing directly from the work of build ing it while that work is in progress ought to be sufficient to induce every citizen to ook with favor upon the project.

such accommonstions shall be reciprocal. This is only just; were it not so stipulated, it would be possible for another company to blockeds our tracks and we could secure no toutlet or other accommodations over theirs. As to the $2 charge, that is the customary charge here now for ing another company's cars, and it was made the maximum in our ordinance only Collector of Internal Revenue for this because it was thought proper to make a State, has not yet decided whom to appoint maximum, and that was considered realin place of Deputy George Baird at this sonable. Oharges may, and pasbably blace, who retires on the first of the com-

higher."
In further conversation with the Judge In further conversation with the Judge, it was larned that everything in connection with the project depended solely on the action of the people at the election a week from to-morrow. If the $300,000 subscription is voted, no time will be lost in getting to work on the bridge and approaches, and the good fruits of the work will be enjoyed at once by the people. The only fear he expressed in regard to the election was that the people might consider it unimportant whether they voted or not. He expressed the hope that no friend of the project would forget to put in a favorable ballot.

of Officers. The Pioneer Society installed its officers, recently elected to serve during the coming year, at the Arion club house last evening. The affair was one of the most enjoyable ever known in the history of this organisation, whose membership embraces nearly every one of the older German residents who came here from Germany. The meeting was called to order shorily after 0 o'clock, the time up to that hour having been pleasantly passed in social intercourse, and the officials, who happen to be the same who served last year, escorted to the stage, where they were seateches follows:

President—O. Stifel.
Secretary—O. R. Behler.
Tressurer—Adam Elig.
Marshal—P. Bonenberger.
Standard-bearer—Jacob Nunge.
Directors—Conrad Aul, Fred Nolte, S. Keim, Ludwig Wilhelm, Frank Striff and Gotlieb, Bayha.
An address was made by Rev. Mr. Ulthis organization, whose membership em-will have to be increased in a proportion unsuspected by any but bridge builders. Nor is it thought that the proposed one-cent toil will pay the increased cost of construction and maintainance. Against this, however, is to be set the advantage to the company in its operations of an independent foot way. Of course employes of the Bridge Company will necessarily have to pass and repass on foot more or less, and the construction of a foot bridge will increase the facility for doing this.

It has therefore been decided, in view of all these circumstances, to agree to add to the railroad bridge a passage-way for pedestrians.
